Welcome to the pages of this Centennial edition of the Acorn. Over the years this publication has presented visual and word images that convey the beauty, the excitement, the fellowship, the rigor and the inspiration of life at Oakwood College. Its pages have woven a tapestry of memory with the threads of people and events. Each volume is a treasured addition to the halls of nostalgia.

This is particularly true of the Centennial edition you now hold in your hands. The institutional life and progress it reveals comes because of a pathway of vision and sacrifice that started in 1896. Since that time the College has experienced extraordinary success in fulfilling its mission to provide opportunity and access to quality Christian education. In the pages that follow you will see the heaven-blessed results of the commitment of dedicated administrators, faculty, staff, and students to fulfilling God's plan for Oakwood College. As you peruse these pages, we welcome your partnership and support as Oakwood faces the future with confidence, courage, and the conviction that "The eternal God is our refuge and underneath are the everlasting arms." (Deut. 33:27)

CENTENNIAL UNITED STUDENT MOVEMENT OFFICE OF THE PRESIDENT

On behalf of the Centennial United Student Movement Officers, it is with great joy that we present to you the 1995-96 Centennial Acorn. Congratulations to Timothy Privette, and his wonderful staff for their many hours of dedicated hard work in completing this project.

We have endeavored this year to successfully effectuate "A Century Of Service," and understand that it is altogether impossible to completely codify ninety-nine years of Oakwood destiny into the pages of this book.

Nonetheless, within these many pages lie the faces of unsurpassed potential for greatness. The faces that you see, are the promising products of many parents who sacrificed over, and over again to provide Christian education for their children. The faces that you see, are the grandiloquent result of great administrators, who have helped us reach the highest academic achievements. Furthermore, the faces that you see, are the condign consideration of those individuals who have shared in the completion of this century of Oakwood's existence.

And so, as Oakwood begins its second century, the onus is on us, to in the few remaining years ahead, enhance our earthly experience by passionate prayer, and implacable work.

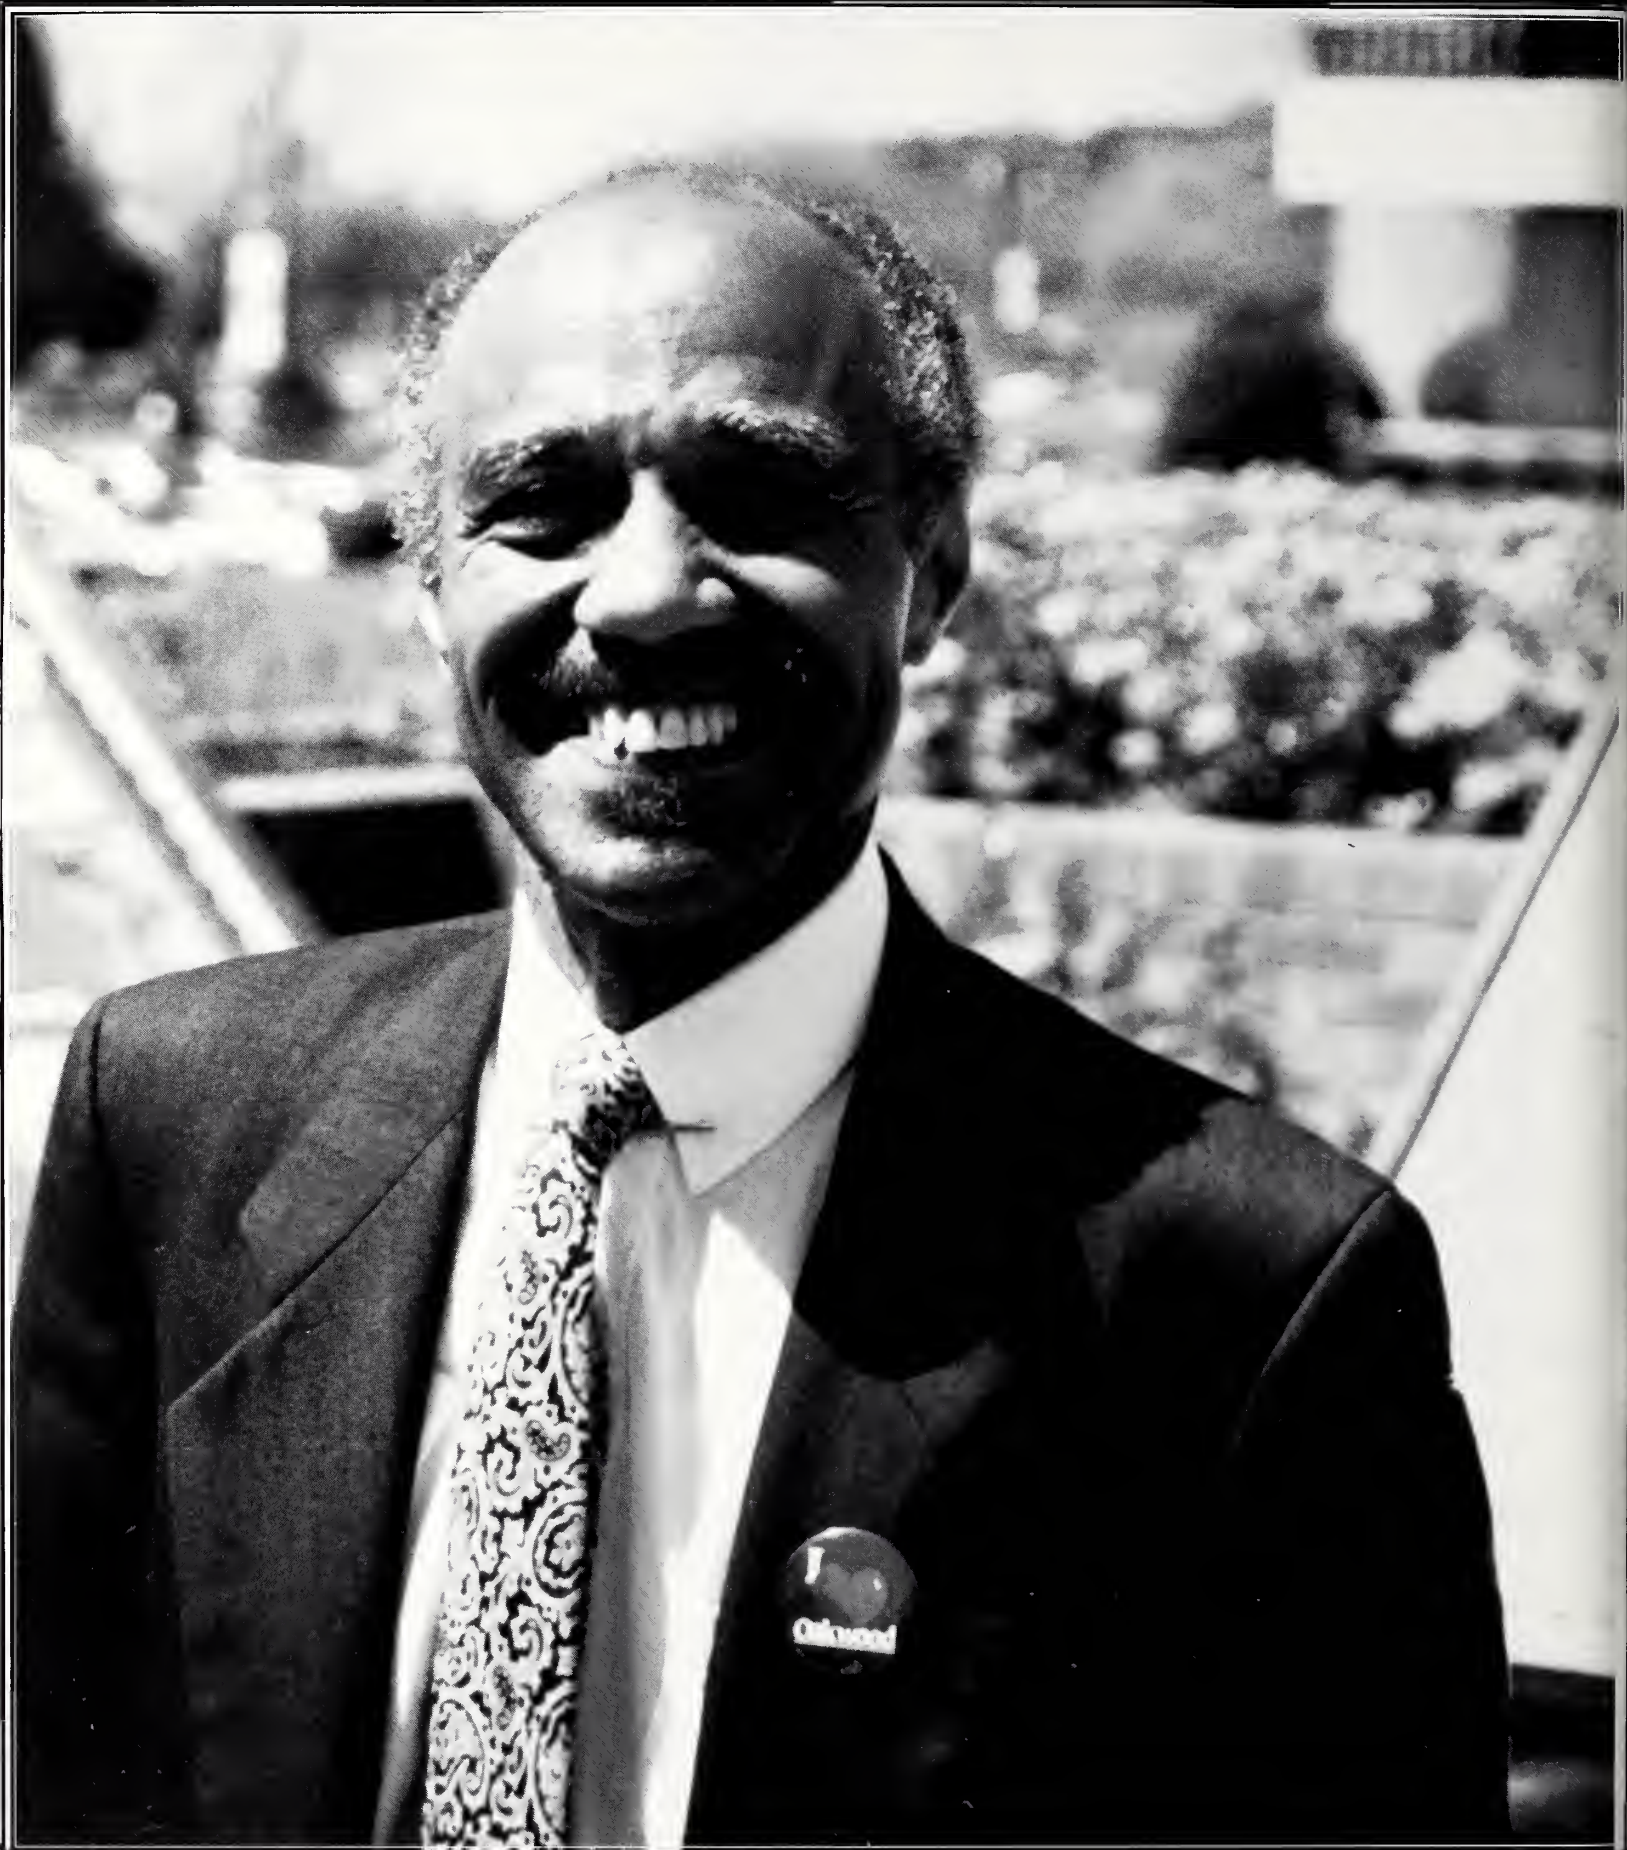

As the perpetual clock of inevitability continues to tick, we as Oakwood students, are still going. In the words of Elder C.B. Rock, "We do not wish for an extended stay in this world. Our hope is anchored in the school of eternity; but should time last, let the record show that together we worked and played, and studied and prayed - here on these hallowed grounds - during Oakwood's hour of high destiny and meaningful transition. And if time should last beyond our day, it will be sufficient that heaven record our names as those who were happy participants in the greater transition from here to eternity."

Sincerely yours,

Kelby D. McCottry
Centennial USM President

A Century Of Service ... And Still Going !!!

IN DEDICATION

DR. SHERMAN HAYWOOD COX

Many ministers are often referred to as "products of Christian education." The 1996 Acorn honoree presents exceptional contrast to this cliché. At the age of 13, Dr. Cox, along with his mother, stepfather, twin sister, and another sister, was baptized by Pastor William Cheatham Sr., into the Seventh-day Adventist church in Baltimore, Maryland. Dr. Cox tells of the challenging times of his youth, while on welfare, that saw his mother struggle to keep her children in church school. Dr. Cox reveals, "at times, when she [his mother] heard a good sermon about Christian education, would put them in church school, and when they ran out of money they would be put out of church school."

When Dr. Cox was of age for high school, a few ladies from his church pulled him aside and told him how they felt he was called to the ministry. Listening attentively Cox followed their advice and headed down to Huntsville, Alabama to attend Oakwood Academy. The ladies paid for him to go to school. Dr. Cox admits, "that's all they did, pay for the trip to Oakwood." This was not a problem though. In the 1950s, while Oakwood Academy was a boarding school, students could literally work their way through school.

Upon completing four years of Oakwood Academy, Dr. Cox "ran away from the ministry" and attended Morgan State University. His temporarily revised career goal was to become a criminal lawyer. But after a year at MSU, the Spirit guided Dr. Cox back to Huntsville to Oakwood College. Once at Oakwood, Cox majored in Religion and minored in Elementary Education, and completed both in 1960. From Alabama Cox went straight to Michigan to Andrews University, since he "wasn't picked up [by a Seventh-day Adventist Conference to pastor]," and earned an M.A. in the area of Applied Theology and Counseling in 1961. Upon completion of this degree Cox was offered a pastoral position from President F.L. Bland of the South Central Conference.

An eventful career in the ministry began to unfold which saw Cox pastor churches in Alabama, Mississippi, Kentucky, and Tennessee. One of the most memorable experiences of Cox's pastoral ministry occurred in Knoxville, Tennessee, where he met and baptized his wife-to-be Loleta Simpson. From their September 17, 1967 union, Sherman and twins Shane and Shawn have come to be. Dr. Cox continued to serve South Central Conference from 1962-1969 before accepting positions with Central States Conference as both Youth and Education Director. In 1979 Dr. Cox became the first black youth director to become President of a Black conference. Dr. Cox remains the only former conference President to rise to the Office of President directly from the Office of Youth Director.

Following two wonderful, three-year terms as Conference President, Cox returned to Oakwood College in 1985 to serve as Director of Financial Development. It was in 1986, however that Dr. Cox became the Chaplain/Director of Campus Ministries of the College. To date, Cox retains this position where he has set out to make sure each student has the opportunity to draw closer to the Lord, whether by Bible studies, religious activities, or Week of Prayer programs. Dr. Cox also makes it a priority to get to know each student, if not by name, by appearance.

Chaplain Cox cites being accepted by each and every student he has met and the cooperative relationship with the pastor of the College church as the two most outstanding accomplishments he is proud of. He also insists Oakwood is so effective in shaping the lives of both young and old because of a number of unique characteristics. Primarily, the students are blessed with a Christian faculty which possesses the extraordinary ability to integrate faith and learning in the curriculum. Cox believes the older people in the community benefit from the interaction with the young and are made to feel younger as a direct result. Overall, Cox implies the SDA community at Oakwood is unparalleled in all of the world, and it is the distinct, identifying mark of the College.

As the Centennial celebration comes to a close, so to shall Chaplain Cox's tenure as College Chaplain. After nine years of serving in this regard, he will return to the Office of Development to function as Associate Director. In an extensive interview Dr. Cox expressed, "this is an area which needs to be developed. As the Government and church's headquarter's begin to lessen funds to school's of higher education, Oakwood needs to develop a sound financial development program in order to insure its existence for another 100 years."

Chaplain Cox, now set to begin assisting in the College's $20 million Capital Campaign, has the goal to do all within his power to surpass the original mark and even upwards of $50-100 million. Having taught in the Religion Department, Cox states a desire to teach again in order to stay in contact with students who later will be needed to support the school, and also to share with students the wealth of his experience.

In closing, Dr. Cox admits that his entire experience at Oakwood has not been all "peaches and cream." But above all, he still loves Oakwood. It has meant so much to the success of his family, especially his sons. This is the reason he wears his "I Love Oakwood" pin daily.

Chaplain Cox, from the entire Centennial United Student Movement of 1995-1996, WE LOVE YOU! MAY GOD CONTINUE TO BLESS YOUR FAMILY AS YOU STRIVE TO ADD TO HIS.

HERE'S TIMOTHY--THE EDITOR!

If it had not been for the Lord on my side, I don't know where I'd be. The experience of Oakwood College is one of immense spirituality and eminent culture. Every student who attends Oakwood becomes part of a history so full and free. It is full of the love of Christ and, as many can testify, can set any sinner free from the mind-bending grasp of sin. As Oakwood College celebrates one hundred years of Christian education, one can only give praise to God for the great things He has allowed to be done through Oakwood. It is by His grace that these pages may be compiled.

This yearbook is the culmination of many hours editing, designing, wondering, etc. There have been many who have helped make this Centennial Acorn a reality. A most formal thank you is expressed to Byron Phillips of Distinctive Imagery for the professional portraiture services rendered. I would like to thank Mrs. Jody Stennis,(sponsor), Dr. Oliver Davis,(sponsor), Ms. Theresa Allen and Student Services, Dr. Roy Malcolm and the College Relations Dept., Minneola Dixon and the archivists at the Archives, Mrs. Jones and the entire Records office, Colin Sandy, Carla Cargill, Oakwood College Security, the good folks at Wal*Mart, the academic department chairs, Graphixx, Curtiss Mims, and last, but greatest of all, Jeff Cook and Jeff Reinholtz of Jostens.

The Acorn is a product of the United Student Movement. It highlights the academic year in social, spiritual, and academic areas. Relax, read and reminisce..

MESSAGE FROM THE CO-EDITOR

Long meetings, late nights editing copy, and endless hours of designing layouts are all duties I met head on as the Acorn assistant editor. Dedication is the key to accomplishing any task successfully, and it was with the utmost determination and dedication that we completed this great task set before us. I feel privileged to have worked with this staff whose devotion and patience made this experience all the more worthwhile.

I would like to thank our worthy editor-in-chief, Timothy Privette. Under his leadership and through his Christ-like demeanor I have learned the true meaning of friendship and teamwork.

I know this year's Acorn is definitely a memorable endeavor. So as you turn and read the pages of time, forget not the many feats we have overcome during this school year and during our century of service.

THE 1996 MISS OAKWOOD COLLEGE PAGEANT

Miss Oakwood College Pageant '96

The audience waited in anticipation at the Von Braun Civic Center Hall for the Third Annual Miss Oakwood College Pageant '96 to begin. The theme for this year's pageant was, "Jewels of the Nile." Each contestant recited enlightening information about the jewel she was representing, and then presented the jewels to Joy DeShay, the reigning queen. The contestants were Jamila Jones, Angela Sobers, Anisa Jones, Je'Wana Grier, Kristea Lamb, Natasha Rochester, and Ja'Niza McMeans.

The talent segment included dramatic monologues and vocal performances. Each contestant highlighted their strengths and weaknesses. Some did extremely well with their introduction, but their talent was weak, or vice-versa. By the end of the evening, Miss Anisa Jones was crowned Miss Oakwood College. She has promised to be visible and active with the life of Oakwood College.

MISS OAKWOOD COLLEGE 1996

When it finally dawned on me that I was left standing as the new Miss Oakwood, I was altogether stunned, honored, and surprised. I thought, "You mean, I actually won?" All I could do was laugh!

My reign offers me the privileges of serving a prominent, daring, and a peculiar institution; of helping to uplift my people to the royalty that always has been ours; and foremost, of modeling what God's loving, magnanimous power can do with anyone who is willing. Every woman can achieve her strong, wholistic beauty; every man can find his rightful, dignified place if one takes the Master's hand and never let it go.

To my sponsor, Dean York, my lovely court, the United Student Movement, Oakwood faculty, Willing Succeeding & Black, friends, and well-wishers, thank you so much for your support and encouragement. May my striving example be a profoundly simple testament to you all: something on the inside shows up on the outside. May God bless you!

Yours truly,

Anisa L. Jones

FRESHMEN BASKETBALL

The College Days crowd packed in tight for the Annual Freshman East/West Game. This year the teams were split into four regions, North, South, East, and West. Supportive students came to cheer on their home team. Ashby Auditorium was filled to capacity. A hush came over the crowd as the players positioned themselves on the court. Excitement filled the air as freshmen from the South teamed up to battle freshmen from the West. Although there was one minor altercation, the game brought enjoyment to everyone, as the West came out on top!

THE WILD, WILD WEST

Howdy Partner! Were you there? Or did you stay "Home at the Range?" Deputy Super Social Vice threw a wild western gala and invited every posse this side of town. Cowboys rode in Broncos and Mustangs while others arrived in Grand Cherokee style.

Everyone traded in his spurs for skates and just rolled out. There was almost a showdown downtown, and Sheriff McCottry was ready to draw, but the ranger wised up and took his seat again at the bar--snack bar that is.

In the mix: Now we don't want no trouble partner.

THE ISLAND FEST

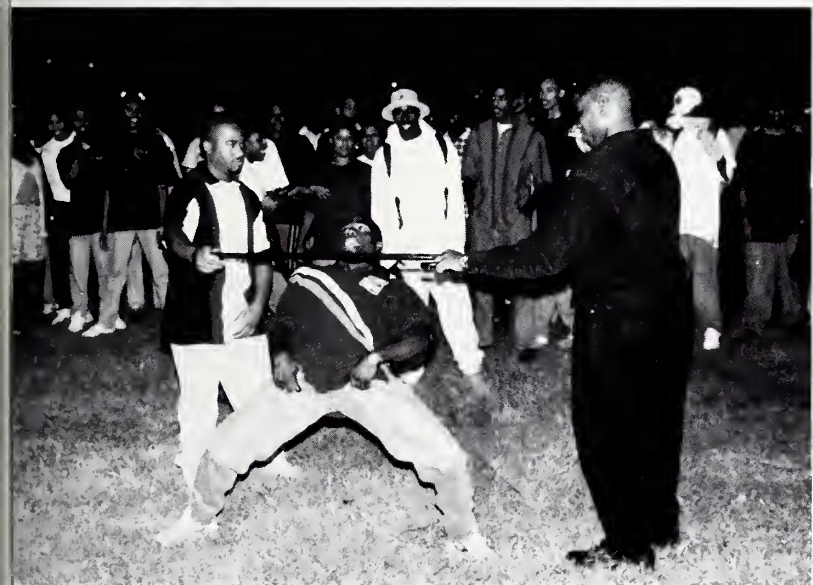

On this night every Bahamian, Trinidadian, Barbadian, Jamaican, Bermudian, and anyone who had some island spirit in them, celebrated their love of festivity at the great Island Fest behind Peterson Hall. The night was filled with joyous Caribbean music provided by special guests and any other brave Oakwoodites who wanted to share their voices. The fun started with a congo line, then Oakwood College sophomore Dino rapped, and afterwards mystery magic island punch was served all around.

Good Times, Different Strokes, The Cosby Show, sound familiar? It did to the many students who brought back the memorable theme songs. It is a shame that the voices were not as good as the memories.

WIN, LOSE OR DRAW

"On your mark." "Get set." "Go!" "No talking." "Next." "That's right." All the original sights and sounds of the original Win, Lose, or Draw hit Oakwood for this classic episode. Shimon Taylor was the host.

BOWLING

Oakwood College's United Student Movement annually sponsors an Oakwood wide bowling night. Excitement radiated throughout the student body from the time they piled up in buses and private cars until they reached the bowling alley, racing to reach the lane of their choice.

The night was filled with classic comp

The lucky obtained strikes, and those who came strictly for the fun of it rolled gutter ball after gutter ball. The night proved indeed to be an overall success.

ICE SKATING

If anyone was wondering why the campus seemed empty on this Saturday night, it was because the United Student Movement sponsored ice skating at the Iceplex in Huntsville. As you see, some did not stay on their feet the whole time.

On Showtime at the Apollo, Oakwood students crowded in front of Moran Hall in anticipation of the annual talent show. FUN FLICKS

"Quiet on the set." "Lights." "Camera." "Action." "That's a wrap." Kramer International brought the film and Oakwood brought the fun. The highlight of this event, without question, was when Orrin Ingram and Rachel Cole took centerstage. That was one waltz for the archives.

COLLEGE DAYS

Every fall Oakwood College hosts its annual College Days. High School seniors from every Adventist academy converge on its campus. Approximately 800 hopeful "Oakwoodites" came to Huntsville to get the infamous "Oakwood Experience". The college days students stayed in the dorms where the hosting students received $10.00 for housing them. The visitors were fed daily under a beautiful white tent erected in front of the library.

The college days students visited classes and attended the career fair. Monday night a concert nearly tore the roof off of Oakwood Church. Dynamic Praise, Pine Forge Academy Choir and various groups and solos let us know He is worthy to be praised.

On Tuesday the basketball game was held in Ashby Auditorium. The college days students played the Oakwood College freshman. The Oakwood College women reigned supreme against the college days girls. The major upset came when the college days men beat the Oakwood College freshman men.

On Tuesday afternoon all guests began their respective trips home with Oakwood in their hearts and on their minds.

BLOCK FESTIVAL

On September 24, 1995, the Men of Distinction hosted its first annual Block Party which took place within the center of campus. Twister, double dutch, basketball, and volleyball tournaments were just a few of the activities that took place. Trophies were given to all of the first place winners. Many businesses and campus organizations had exhibits and booths to advertise as well as to inform those who passed by. Some of the campus organizations who participated were Gamma Sigma Kappa, Phi Kappa Psi, and WSB, whose display won first place. Businesses presented were The Culture Shoppe, The Caribbean House, and many car dealerships which included Saturn of Huntsville, Nissan, and Mercedes Benz. Each dealership brought cars to show and encourage students to buy or just to dream.

A mini concert took place featuring Connect Five, Joy, and an instrumental solo by Ralph Richardson, President of the Men of Distinction. Also, many more students shared their talents to this event.

The day ended by announcing the winner of the raffle, a CD player and other prizes. Although the Block Party was not well attended by students or people in the community, it still turned out to be quite a success.

AMER. RED CROSS BLOOD DRIVE

The American Red Cross is a private, voluntary service organization financed by contributions from the American public. Its aims are to improve the quality of human life and enhance compassion for others.

On September 27, 1995, Oakwood College took part in making that aim come true by making that day the annual American Red Cross blood drive located at the Blake Center.

Eagerly students awaited their chance to donate blood. Walking through the lines there was a sense of anxiety and anticipation. During the blood drive it was not uncommon to hear various conversations of encouragement to those afraid of being afraid of being stuck by the needle.

Oakwood College has taken a great interest in many voluntary services of the Red Cross. The students of Oakwood understand the importance of giving themselves to help serve others.

MENTAL HEALTH SCREENING

Oakwood College's 1995 Mental Health Screening was a blast! As students entered Blake Center, they were encouraged to participate in the mental health screening.

OAKWOOD

REFLECTIONS

COLLEGE

Centennial Reflections of: Oakwood's Campus

Oakwood College was established by the General Conference of Seventh-day Adventists to serve the Negro constituency of the denomination. It was in 1895 that a three man educational committee was sent to the south to find land for the school. These men were, G.A. Irwin, Southern District Director of the General Conference; O.A. Olsen, President of the General Conference; and H. Lindsay, who had assisted in the founding of Battle Creek College. These men traveled south and learned of a 380 acre farm in Huntsville, Alabama. After scouting the land, G.A. Irwin and the others were deeply impressed with the farm land and knew that it was what they were looking for. It was the 65 towering oak trees, which stood in what would be the heart of the campus, that inspired the men to name the school Oakwood.

On November 16, 1896 Oakwood Industrial School opened its doors with four buildings, four teachers, fewer than twenty-four students, and a property value of $10,157. The first faculty consisted of H.S. Shaw, A.F. Hughes, Hattie Andre, and Solon M. Jacobs, the principal. The school's philosophy of education was to develop the total man so that he might understand the true values of life and his proper relationship and duty toward his God and fellow man. Teachers also sought to teach students how to think and act for themselves; master circumstances; develop breadth of mind and clearness of thought; live by the courage of their convictions; and to appreciate the dignity of labor and the sense of achievement in any assignment faithfully performed. In 1899 changes were made in the curriculum. Emphasis was given to organized agriculture, carpentry, blacksmith, and other industries. Before 1912 the following buildings had been erected, chiefly by student labor: Oaklawn (principal's home), Butler Hall (boy's dorm), Print Shop, Dining Hall, Orphanage, Sanitarium, and a duplex apartment for teachers, The Pines.

For nearly two decades, Oakwood operated on the secondary level as Oakwood Industrial School, Huntsville Training School, and Oakwood Manual Training School. In April 1917, the North American Division Council met and elevated Oakwood Manual Training School to Oakwood Junior College. In 1918, the first two students completed the Junior College courses. Also in 1918, the Board of Trustees purchased an additional 600 acres north of Oakwood Road which enlarged Oakwood's property to slightly less than 1,000 acres. During the years of the Junior College, many graduates completed Junior Theological, Junior Collegiate, two-year training, two-year music, two-year secretarial, and pre-nursing courses. By the 1930s, administrators explored the possibility of raising Oakwood from the Junior level to the Senior level. In 1943, all qualifications were met for the Board to vote Oakwood to Senior College status. The first Baccalaureate degrees were conferred in 1945 by J.L. Moran, the college's first black President.

Expansion and improvements of buildings, roads and sidewalks increased the College's property value in 1964 to an estimated $2,000,000. The later work of two presidents, F.L. Peterson and G.J. Millet, their officers, and staff members, led to Oakwood gaining full membership as a liberal arts college in 1961. In 1963, Oakwood was granted, by the Southern Association of Colleges and Schools, unlimited accreditation. As Oakwood gained status and a reputable reputation, students came from all 50 states and nearly a dozen foreign countries.

The 1970s and the 1980s proved to be a time of many accomplishments for the college. Enrollment was on the rise; additional programs were established; graduating classes exceeded 100 students, new buildings were built; old buildings were renovated; and postgraduate enrollment of students increased. In the 1990s some of the most notable achievements have been recorded in the College's history. In 1995, the largest enrollment in the history of the College [1,600+] was achieved. The dreams and journeys of the students who enter Oakwood are ongoing. The spiritual, educational, and mental growth, that was provided by that vision in 1896, continues as Oakwood prospers in preparing all for a life full in Christ.

Old Mansion (1896)

"Old Mansion" was one of the original buildings standing on the grounds when the old Irving farm was purchased and Oakwood was established. It has served as a dormitory, a dining room, a staff residence, and the basement was used as a laundry in the early days. It last served as a student and staff residence. Weakened by age, the building crumbled to ruin.

West Hall (1897)

West Hall was the first new building to be erected for Oakwood. It was a small two-story building where male students lived on the second floor. The building had no system heat, electricity, and no running water.

Study Hall
(1907)

Study Hall (1907)

The Study Hall, built in 1907, was constructed from materials from Oakwood. The 30 by 65 feet building's foundation was made from Oakwood's own mountain of stone and the wood was from the school's forest lumber. This three-story building was both a chapel and boy's dormitory.

Butler Hall (1908)

No school develops without misfortune. On October 11, 1906, fire destroyed Chapel Hall and one young man, John Willingham, was burned to death. He had returned to his room in an attempt to retrieve more of his clothing before the fire had consumed the entire building, but was trapped by the flames. By 1908 this building had been replaced by a three-story frame building [Butler Hall] and used exclusively as a boys' dormitory.

East Hall (1909)

The Oakwood officials were resolved to maintain at the school a sound health program. Upon hearing their plans for establishing a medical unit, the General Conference of Seventh-day Adventists made an appropriation for a small two-story sanitarium building which was completed in 1909. On the first floor was a parlor, two medical rooms, a kitchen, a dining room, a small apartment for the medical superintendent and front and back porches. On the second floor there were seven rooms for patients. In the basement was a heating and sewer plant as well as an installed physiotherapy system.

The Pines
(1911)

"The Pines" served as a faculty and official residence, in the early years of its existence, and as an apartment house for married students at the end.

O.C. Orphanage
(1912)

The Orphanage for homeless children, placed in the school's management in 1911, saw many of its boys and girls complete their education and become "effective and fruitful workers and leaders."

Henderson Hall
(1914)

Henderson Hall became the new dormitory for girls in 1914. F.W. Clark, a contractor and Negro member of the faculty, directed the entire work and completed the three-story frame structure at a cost of $9,781. During the following thirteen years, Henderson Hall accomplished hundreds of young women.

Potato House
and Cannery (1918)

Students on work study programs worked vigorously canning goods for local Huntsville area stores and markets. The cannery not only provided jobs for the students while they earned their degrees, but it also built strong work ethics.

Irwin Hall (1927)

In 1926, fire once again destroyed another building, this time it was the dining hall. Minutes of Oakwood Junior College Board, April 21, 1926, reveal this message sent to the General Conference of Seventh-day Adventists: "Dining Hall completely destroyed by fire, loss $14,000, insurance $3,500. Using old Cannery for temporary dining hall." The General Conference responded quickly by voting a liberal appropriation of $15,000 and Oakwood erected a $32,000 building. Financed by fund-raisers, church pledges, and individual donations this new building provided a dining hall, kitchen, and 40 rooms for girls. In honor of one of the founders of the school, Elder G.A. Irwin, the building was named Irwin Hall.

Moran Hall
(1939)

The J.L. Moran Hall houses teachers' offices, classrooms, and the College Auditorium with a seating capacity of 500. The original structure was built in 1939 and extensions have been added to the east and west sections in 1943 and 1944, respectively. Recently the College Auditorium has been renovated. Moran Hall was built out of a rock quarry right here on the original property.

Cunningham Hall
(1947)

The E.I. Cunningham Hall served as a residence hall. It contains rooms for 136 students. Each room is supplied with hot and cold running water. A parlor, worship room, utility rooms, and dean's apartment exist on the second floor. The east wing housed an art classroom. Presently, the east wing, houses the Center for Academic Advancement.

Ashby Auditorium
(1954)

Ashby Auditorium (1954)

The N.E. Ashby Auditorium, constructed in 1954, served as a pavilion for South Central Conference of Seventh-day Adventists campmeeting and housed the Physical Education Department. N.E. Ashby was a history professor and it is in his honor that the gymnasium was named.

Peterson Hall (1955)

The F.L. Peterson Hall building was completed in 1955. It served as residence hall for freshmen women. Presently, it serves as the residence for the freshmen young men. It stands complete with a worship room, recreation hall, two lounges, guest rooms, the dean's apartment, an infirmary, and has a capacity of 172 persons.

Blake Memorial Ctr. (1968)

The W.J. Blake Memorial Center, completed in 1968, contains the administrative offices of the college, the cafeteria, and other amenities. Blake Center also housed the Student Center, however the Student Center is now Ford Hall.

Eva B. Dykes Library (1973)

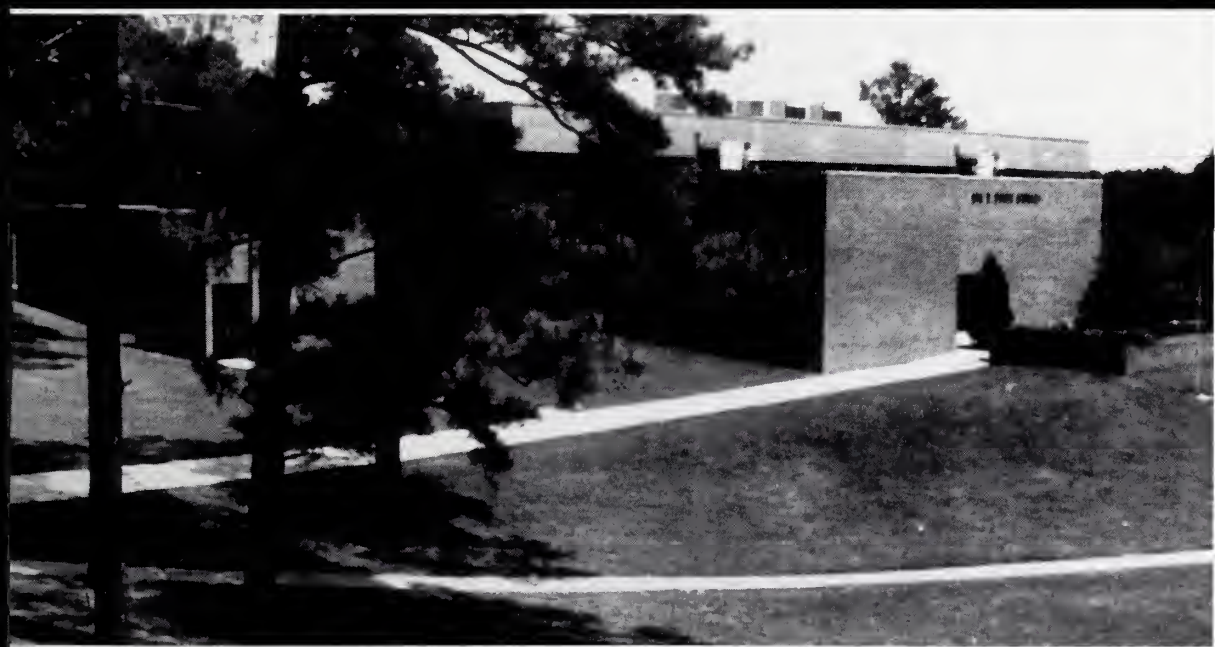

In 1973, the Eva B. Dykes Library, named in honor of Dr. Eva Beatrice Dykes, the first black woman to complete the requirements for a Ph.D. degree in America in 1921 from Harvard, was erected. The library contains The College Museum, The Archives Research Center, The Medical Center, and displays Special Collections.

O.C. Church & Mosely Complex (1977)

Due to the increase of student enrollment and the increase the community membership of the Oakwood Church, the need for a building of a church became necessary. Under the leadership of such notables as, Richard E. Tottress, Elder E.C. Ward, and Elder Vongoethe Lindsay, building commenced. Through extensive prayers and fund-raising this building was ready in 1977. Mosely Complex which is connected to the west wing of the church, houses teachers' offices and classrooms for the Department of Religion and Theology, and the C.T. Richards Chapel. Both facilities have now become a place for worship and training for future workers in the cause of salvation.

Wade Hall (1991)

On January 20, 1991 348 young ladies were relocated to a brand new living facility on Oakwood's campus. The New Women's Residence Hall, as it was known before the building was formally dedicated to Ms. Trula Wade, was built to house 360 female students. Some of the buildings features include: the Ruth Mosby Greene Chapel, storage rooms, study lounges, a beauty parlor, an infirmary, and many other amenities.

DEDICATION

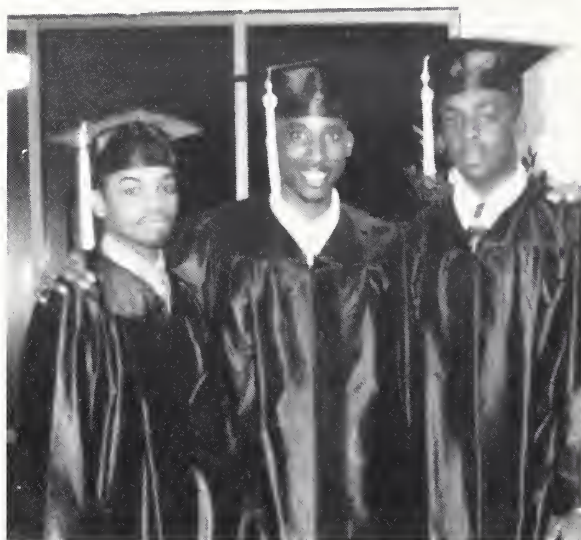

Golden Words

The beloved Centennial class sponsor, Dr. Sylvia Barnes, presented golden words as the senior class of 1996 was dedicated at Wednesday night prayer meeting.

Almost through

With just a few weeks remaining, Greg Peters, Timothy Privette, and Kenny Armstrong stand proud clothed in cap, gown and tassel.

PRESENTATION

Powerful address

Pastor Benjamin Jones, pastor of the First S.D.A. Church in Huntsville, delivered a powerful address to the graduating class on March 27, 1996.

I Won't Be Afraid

Leroy Peters, a music major, lifted melodious praise as he sang a rendition of "I Won't Be Afraid".

The auction is open to citizens of any country, but if you come, you better bring your American Express Dollars. The senior class does not accept Canadian currency.

Students lined the Blake Center staircase shoulder-to-shoulder trying to check out each individual being auctioned.

In between sales, students often huddled to put their pennies together.

February 18, 1996. The beauty of Oakwood College unfolded and sparkled in regal fashion at the Annual United Student Movement Winter Banquet.

Only the most remarkable and creative figures crossed the stage this evening. The host--Shimon Taylor. The interior design--D. Russel Purce. The awards presentations--USM Executive Officers. The fashion--Visual EFX. The entertainment--Anointed. Miss Oakwood College was coronated and Christopher Willis and Oakwood's Own gave special musical performances. The program seemed secondary however, as the focus of the banquet was on the handsome and gorgeous students of Oakwood College.

USM EXEC. CABINET & SENATE SWORN IN

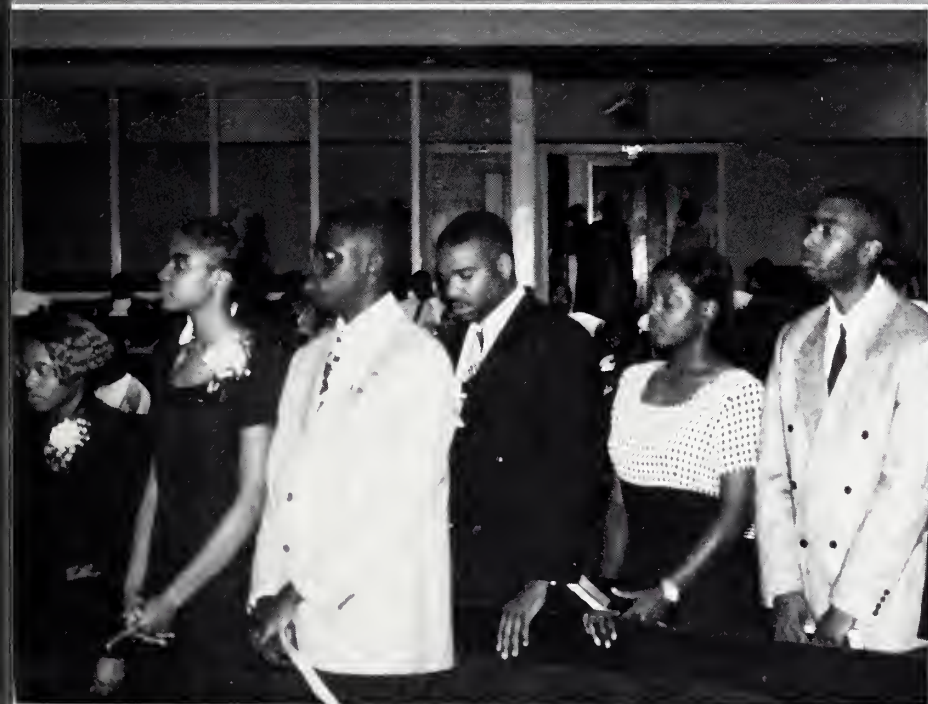

Wednesday evening, September 19, 1995, was a very special evening for the USM Centennial Executive Cabinet and Senate. It was Inauguration Evening. This was the event in which they were finally sworn into their offices.

The evening started off with the oaths of the Senate, followed by the Executive Cabinet, and finally President Kelby McCottry and Executive Vice-President Isaac Palmer. They made solemn oaths of service to the United Student Movement student body.

The inauguration ceremony was beaming with talent. The congregation was blessed with the inspiring musical messages from Connect Five, Evelyn Fordham, and Tyson Stepney. The Honorable President McCottry showered his constituents with an impassioned speech entitled "The New Kid on the Block."

This evening was indeed a blessing. All who attended left with the satisfaction that the officers they voted in would do their jobs to the best of their ability.

EXPERIENCE THE SPIRIT

"God is good," "Hallelujah," and "Praise the Lord!" Those were just some of the things that were said about the USM Tent Revival held September 10 through 15. The spiritual theme this year was "Experience the Spirit" and that is indeed what happened under the tent. Every night souls, hungry for the Bread of Life, came to a well prepared dining table. They came to hear what God had to say to them. And God did speak to them. All the speakers/evangelists were students [of Oakwood College] except for Elder Dana Edmond, Youth Director of South Central Conference. Each night the "Spirit" descended upon the evangelists and the multitude did "Experience the Spirit."

A team of 12 Bible workers labored tirelessly every night to help guide those who had made serious decisions for baptism and Bible studies. Also, a team of diligent ushers were in place each night to greet seat, and serve all visitors. There was a quiz each night to test the recollection of the previous night's message and there were prizes and gifts given also.

God has been so good to us! This powerful week concluded with approximately 50 individuals for baptism including non-Adventist and many others for Bible studies that will prayerfully result in baptism. There was a mass baptism at the end of September! To God be the Glory!

EXPERIENCING THE SPIRIT IN REVELATION

As if the "Experience the Spirit" tent revival was the sowing of seeds, the "Experience the Spirit in Revelation" Week of Prayers saw a major spiritual harvest add over 60 souls to the heavenly family. This was the spiritual peak of the school year.

Chapel

This year our chapel services were wonderful. Each week we gathered together to receive messages of motivation and hope from various renown speakers. These speakers came from all around the country to encourage and uplift us spiritually, academically, and culturally.

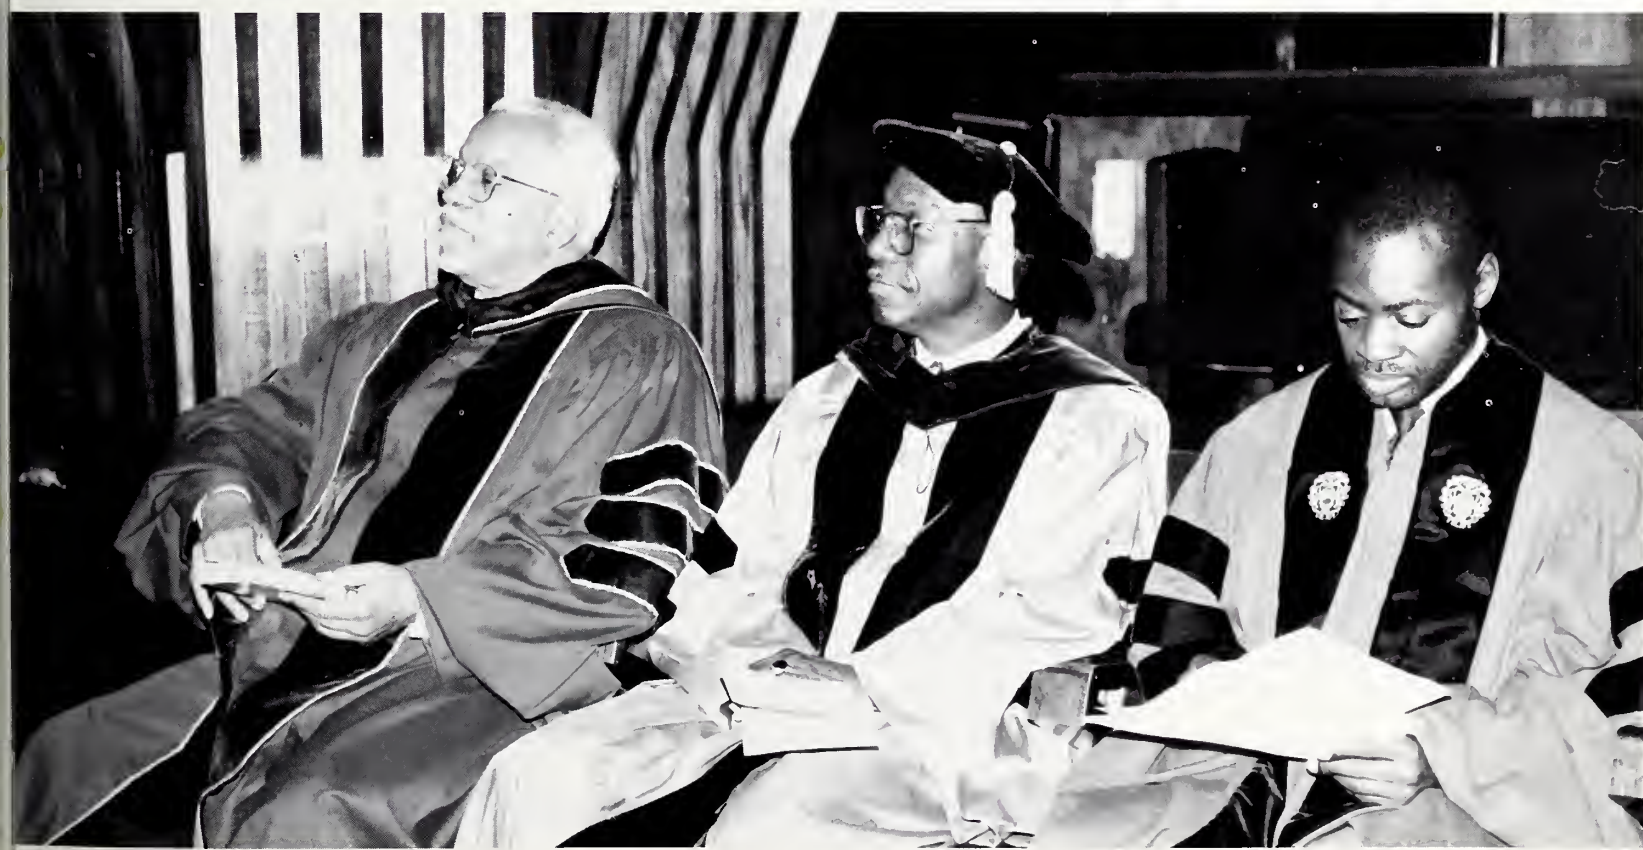

Spiritually, they inspired us to keep hope in Christ, our Savior, and reminded us that He died for our sins and will never leave us. Doing this, we will succeed spiritually.

Academically the key to success is perseverance. Sometimes we will have to burn the midnight oil and study hard. We must not give up!

Culturally, we are faced with obstacles everyday. As African Americans we must hold on to our heritage and take pride in it. Once we understand and embrace ourselves, we will succeed culturally.

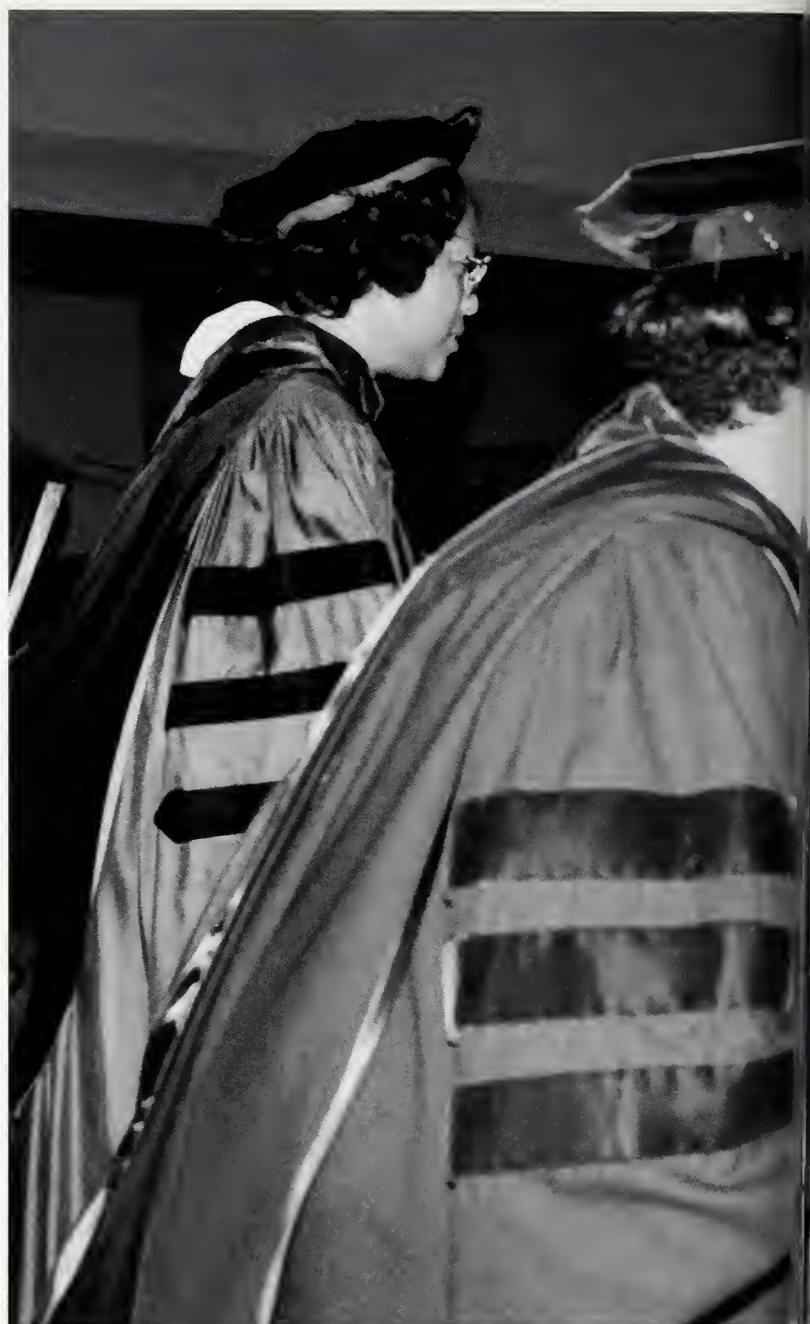

We thank the many speakers that came to enlighten us on various topics of their expertise. From lawyers to pastors, they all took time out of their busy schedules to share these words of wisdom. And as examples of today's successful black men and women they came to start a healing process. Leaving us with the message that we are a people encompassed with pains and sorrows, if we begin to heal today, tomorrow we will be prepared to lead.

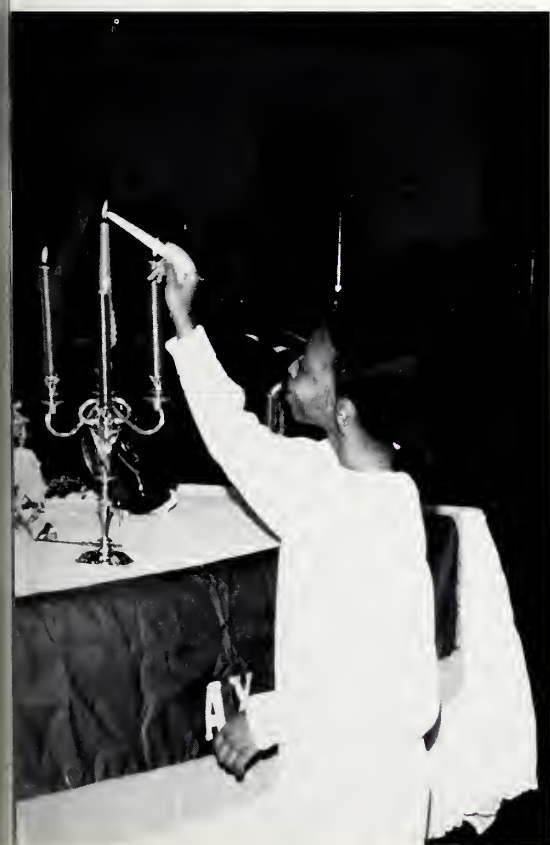

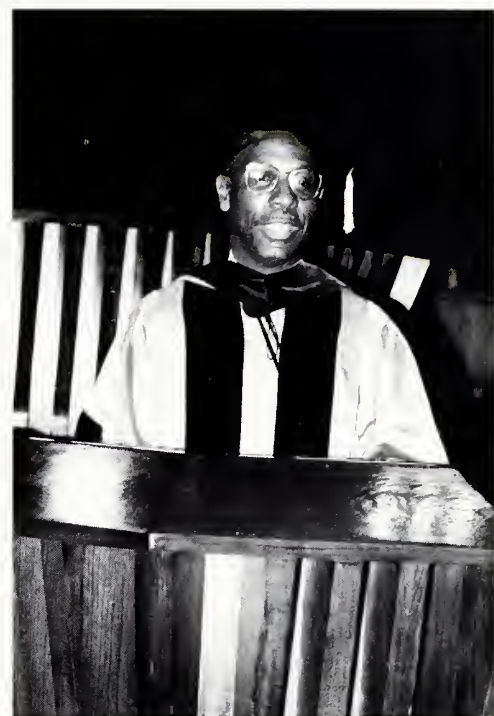

Alpha Chi

As a coeducational society, Alpha Chi's purpose is to provide academic excellence and to honor students who achieve elite distinction in their area of study. Alpha Chi was founded February 22, 1922 and is a member of the Association of College Honor Societies. Students inducted rank in the top ten percent of the junior and senior classes. Ms. Theresa Allen, Director of Student Activities, initiated the establishment of the Oakwood College Alpha Chi Chapter.

Centennial Sabbath

SPECIAL GUESTS

Shirley Verrett, soprano and Warren George Wilson, pianist performed a sensational concert to kick off the Centennial celebration Sabbath evening. Above Verrett accepts gifts at a reception held in their honor.

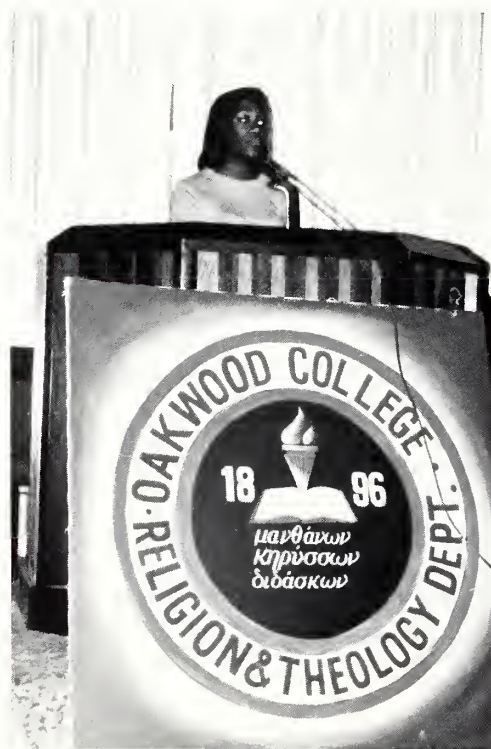

Forum & AYS

It has been often stated that an idle mind is the Devil's workshop. Each Friday evening, Christian programs are what keep students' minds on Christ. The Religion and Theology Forum has a more formal, evangelistic format. Usually at seven o'clock, each Friday evening, service begins in the Mosely Complex.

AYS usually begins each Friday evening at 8:30. This program encompasses a variety of formats which range from plays, concerts, and preaching, to small peer groups which discuss various topics.

These two programs offer two distinct ways to bring in the Sabbath and are very much a strong part of the campus' spiritual fervor.

Centennial Awards

The Centennial Awards show hit Oakwood in exquisite fashion. In the format of The Grammy Awards, beautiful plaques were given before a packed Moran Hall auditorium of Oakwood College students and friends.

The Centennial Awards were given to individuals, groups, staff, and professors who exemplify the Oakwood College spirit both in and out of the classroom. The nominees were narrowed down by a committee. The finalists were voted by the student body in the cafeteria. The votes were tabulated by the committee to determine the winners.

The show was not just about awards. There were many who lent their talents by performing. Among those who performed were Revelation 14, Angela Bryant, Womack Rucker III, Deliverance, Connect Five, Ralph Richardson, Raymond Howard & Ja' Niza McMeans, Caswall Harrigan, N'Namdi Bryant, Dana Connor and Different Dimensions.

The show was hosted by Sheldon Kay and Kristea Lamb.

Christmas Program

Nurses Pinning

January 20, 1996 was designated as Nursing Department Recognition Day at Oakwood. It was this Sabbath at 3:30 p.m. in the College Church the Nursing Dept. dedicated its nursing students. This ceremony incorporated the capping, pinning and candle lighting rituals. The ceremony was to reward first and second year nursing students for their hard work and long hours of preparation and clinicals. Congratulations to all the future nurses who were honored at this program.

Honda All-Stars

On January 29, 1996, at 8:00 p.m., in Moran Hall, the College Bowl teams from Oakwood College, Alabama State University from Montgomery, and Alabama A&M University squared off in a three way competition. Competition was fierce, but eventually, Alabama State triumphed winning first place, with Oakwood taking second and Alabama A&M taking third. This was the first time that the All-Star Team from Oakwood College had been beaten by a visiting team in a home competition. This team which included Melvin Suttle, captain, Tafari Higgs, Eric Lester, Christopher Harris, and Kenneth Smith, then went on to compete in February at Alabama State University. This competition included other college teams from Spelman College and Tuskegee University, also proving to be a tough one for the All-Stars.

USM Sabbath

There is no better time to experience the beauty of USM than amidst a reviving Week of Prayer. All week long messages of hope were delivered which escalated the hearts of men and women to the throne of God.

Saturday, October 28, 1995, Roscoe Howard continued to preach the Word of God in his sermon "Hope in the Midst of Uncertainty." An Oakwood College mass choir lifted angelic praise.

Special tributes were made by USM President, Kelby McCottry, to Elder Howard, Dr. Sherman Cox, O.C. Chaplain, and Pastors Pollard and Harpe of the O.C. SDA Church for untiring support during the week of spiritual emphasis.

Oakwood club has what it takes... Gettin' Into It

-Dr. Ruth Davis

The Family and Consumer Sciences students made tremendous strides this year on a pre-professional plateau. These accomplishments were evident in a few statewide events. First, Harold Thomas, a junior dietetics and theology major, became the first male elected as State Student President of the Alabama Pre-Professional/Graduate Section of the Family and Consumer Sciences Association. After being elected, Thomas presided over the Pre-Professional/Graduate Section session. Teslyn Henry, a junior dietetics major, received a $2,000 award from the Alabama Family and Consumer Sciences Association in Business at the State session held at Perdido Beach Resort in Perdido Beach, Alabama.

The Family and Consumer Sciences students also visited the Tesh Kitchens in Birmingham. They were hosts and hostesses for Tablesapes, which provides $2,000 scholarships.

T trades Of Thought

-Rosalia D. Hinds

Ms. Ramona Hyman's Creative Writing class presented their original pieces of poetry before an audience of about 20 guests in Ford Hall Conference Room. The students presented "thoughts" on nature, conflict, love, and God.

Thoughts on teachers was presented by Miss Rosalia Hinds, her poem entitled "In the Beginning", captured the hearts of not only her classmates, but also of Ms. Hyman.

The poetry read was well written. Some were presented more creatively than others. Dana Connor used a dramatic background that set the feeling of her reading. Peggi Trusty transformed into the lead character of her poem right before the audience's very eyes. Herman Davis, always the cool cat, won the women's hearts with words dripping with romance. Lakeisha Peters rendered her brokenhearted version of love sought. Kelli Carter soothed the audience with reports of true, innocent love. Tafari Higgs, an extremely talented young man, exposed himself while educating the audience on subjects of conflict and love.

The poetry reading ended with a twist. One member of the class came a little late. Devon French arrived to the reading at 3:30. The poetry reading was finished. Ms. Hyman decided that since he was late she would allow the class to declare Devon's fate. Democratically, the class overwhelmingly agreed to let him read his poem. His poem turned out to be worth the audience's time and like they say "all's well that ends well".

Good As Gold

-LaJuan Wideman

Flag Football season for the '95-'96 school year had a somewhat of a rocky start. Prior to the actual start of the season, meaningless softball games took place which no one chose to participate in. After the football draft, flagball games began, but a lack of organization contributed to much confusion during, before, and after the games.

This season Gold had to endure a rough start in their "Quest for the Championship." Captain Lee Lamb, with brilliant assistance from co-captain LaJuan Wideman, molded a multi-talented team into winners. The team members were: Byron Scott, Angelo Suggs, Damon Legette, Barrington Dames, Vashon Williams, Kevin Ballard, Desmond Thompson, Brian Charles, Nakia Jackson, Nathaniel Stewart, Harold Thomas, and Claudell Wilson. Once the team achieved stability their ability to play as a team shined through. By mid-season Gold's record was six wins and two losses which placed them as the third best team in the league. Toward the end of the season Gold began to play even better. Other top notched teams in the league began to view Gold as a title contender.

Gold went into the playoffs focussed and with great intensity. Getting past the first round was easy for Gold, but in the second round they had to face Mr. Roddy's #1 ranked team. The game was close until the end. In the final minute Mr. Roddy's team faced a fourth-and-20 situation. With time running out a pass play was called. The ball was thrown, but Roddy's dreams of winning faded as the pass was intercepted by Gold.

Gold entered the championship game pumped. The opposing team, led by Rick Salter, was winning at halftime by six points. The second half was filled with excitement as Gold came within three points. As Gold continued to turn good defense into good offense, they took the lead late in the half by two points. The Salter team lined up in field goal formation with three seconds left on the clock. The ball was kicked, but missed the mark. Gold celebrated their narrow victory vivaciously.

The "Quest for the Championship" has ended with a thrill of victory so sweet. Gold set out to be the best, and the best they have become.

SILENT CHEERS!

Kenisha Lumpkin (left), wrapped up tight, cheers on Gold.

BEST FRIENDS

When we first met you meant nothing to me
Just a face to see and know;
But as time moved on and we grew closer
We let our friendship grow.

We've had our ups and downs and the times we spent apart;
And all the times we argued I was crying in my heart.

Now you have a place close to my heart
From now until the end;
Just in case you didn't know
It's all because you are my friend.

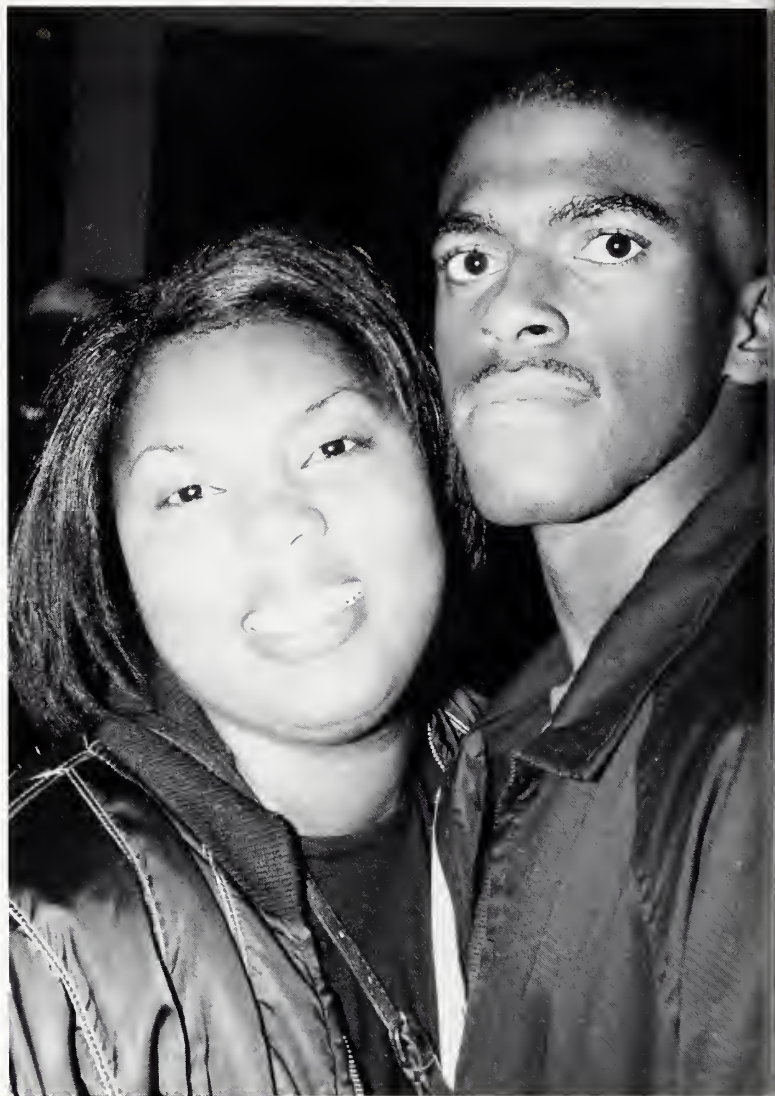

-Angela Jones

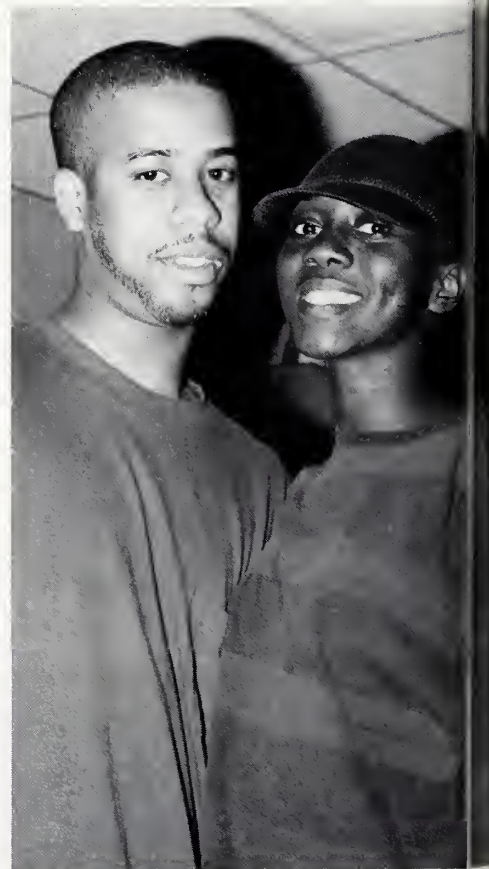

JUST WONDERING

Hey, I was just wondering...
 If I told you that I loved you would you believe me?
 If I asked you
 would you marry me?
 If I hurt would you heal me?
 If I cried in the pain of heartache would you wipe away my tears?
 If I reached out to you would you lie within my arms?
 If I talked
 would you listen?
 If I listened
 would you talk?
 It's funny but I know the answers to these questions, everyone
 And I just want to say this one thing...
 I love you, too.

-Herman L. Davis

WILL U BE THERE?

Will you be the friend
I need, in moments of dismay.
Will you be the map
I require, to guide me on my way?

Will you be voice
so sweet, to calm my inner fears.
Can you be the hand
so soft, to wipe my silken tears?

Would you have the time
every second, to show me that you care.
When I dial 911,
in urgency, will you be there?

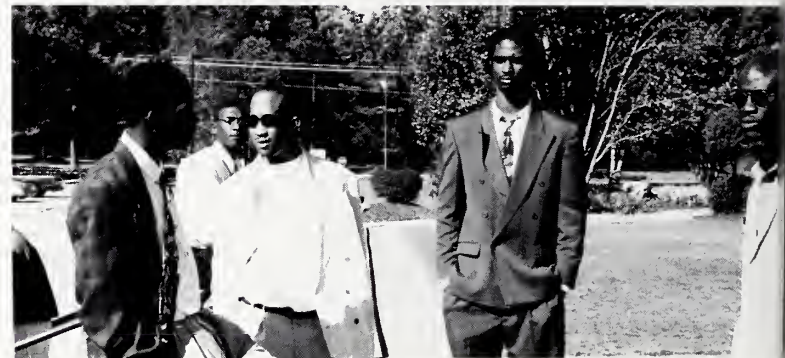

-Milton McKenzie II

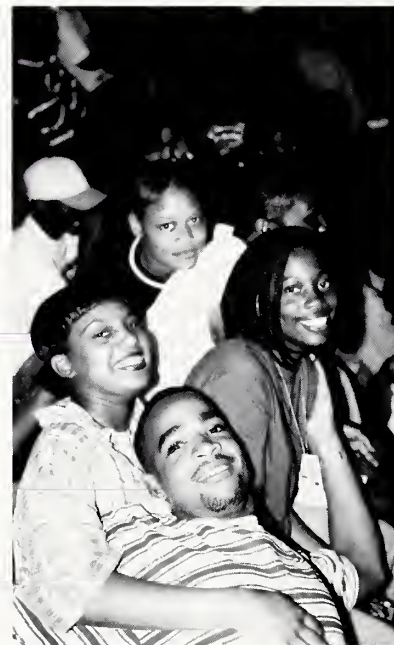

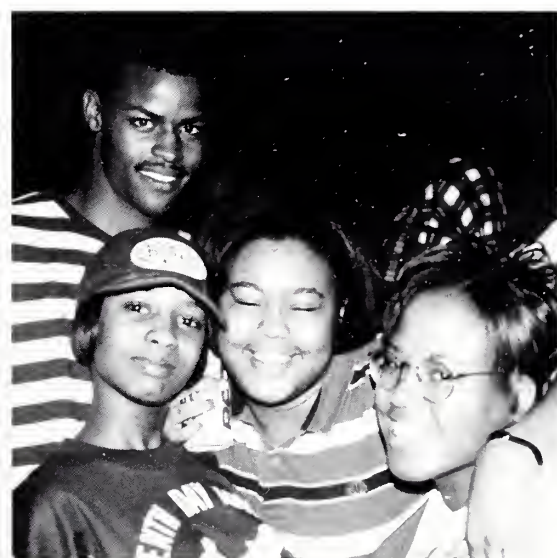

PROVERBS 18:24

A man that hath friends must show himself friendly:
and there is a friend that sticketh closer than a brother.
